Taking the First Steps in Contents Recovery

This primer is not for everyone. It is for those clients who are anxious to participate early and expressively in their recovery. Feel free to read it, use it, or throw it away. Regardless, we can assure you the best recovery possible. You decide the level of support we provide during this process. We can work side-by-side with you through each and every detailed step. Or . . . if you want to get started today . . . get a pencil and read on.

This booklet is to help you help us in evaluating your personal property loss. It can save you time trying to determine what you have lost.

If at any time you have a question about how we are developing your inventory or any questions about the adjustment, call or email your Adjusters International adjuster!

You have just had a major loss!

And most likely this might be your first experience with an insurance company. This booklet has been designed to help you help us with your claim. To present your claim, your policy provides that you must do certain things. One of these is to list the damaged or destroyed property. Our job is to make this process as easy as possible for you.

In this package, you will find:

- First Steps/Small Goals Task Sheet
- Useful Information in Preparing Your Inventory!
 - Where to Begin on Total Loss Or Out of Sight Items?
 - Areas of Caution!
- For Out of Sight Losses
- Sample Page of Available Templates
- Sample Diagram
- What To Do After You Have Replaced An Item On Your Inventory
- Personal Information
- Store Reference Sheets

First Steps / Small Goals

Please answer the questions on the perforated sheets that are at the end of this booklet labeled "Personal Information and Store Reference Sheets" to the best of your ability; detach and return them to your inventory specialist. If your inventory specialist has given you any templates to complete, indicate, to the best of your ability, the number of each item that you had. If you did not have a certain item, simply leave it blank. Do not worry about cost, as we will handle that. However, it is very important that you do give an stimated age in the appropriate column of each sheet. We understand you may not remember the exact month or even the year of purchase. Try to recall to the best of your ability the approximate age. If you can only recall a range (i.e. 3 to 4 years age or between 1985 and 1987) then put down the range.

These are basic sheets we will build upon during our sit down meetings that will give us strong building blocks. The majority of the rooms in your home will be reconstructed together. By filling out these sheets and getting started on your small goals, we can have a solid head start.

Useful Information in Preparing Your Inventory

Where to Begin on Total Loss or Out of Sight Items

While we can do most of the evaluation work on out of sight items, we must rely on you to provide the basic information. Although this looks like an insurmountable project, it isn't.

Make a list one room at a time. Try to visualize each wall, what was on it or against it. A sketch will sometimes help and we have provided a sample for you. Then visualize each item on the wall. What was on or in it? If there were drawers in an item, visualize each drawer and its contents. When done with one item, move to the next.

Although everything must be listed, it is okay to lump certain items together, i.e.

- 1. undergarments
- 2. clothing of similar type
- 3. linens
- 4. kitchen utensils of similar type
- 5. books by paperback, hardcover, decorator books, classics
- 6. records, CD's, VHS or VCR
- 7. toys and games

Any single item in any category that is expensive should be listed separately.

A good rule of thumb is that items worth more than $25.00 should be listed separately. Always be sure to list quantities if you lump items together.

Areas of Caution!

Insurance companies will look for "Red Flags" on an inventory. It is not that they shouldn't exist; it is important that they can be explained.

1. A large total value of purchases in a given year. Your insurance company may ask for financial records to support the disposable income to make these purchases. This is sometimes an error because you are not careful in determining the age of the items. (i.e. too many items in one year) When our inventory is done we will provide you a list of purchases by year to be sure those ages are accurate.

2. Major purchases in a given year. Again the same evaluation as above will be conducted.

3. Unusual or possibly overvalued items. This can be a result of not accurately remembering the original cost or by using another item of similar type that may have a higher value than yours (i.e. you owned an average Hewlett Packard computer and used the price of a high and Sony VAIO as its value). Just remember to be as accurate as possible. Or maybe your house contains middle of the road electronic equipment and you inadvertently use the price of a state of the art Bang & Olufsen Home Theater Receiver for $8,000 thinking it was similar. The insurance company will most likely ask for the original purchase receipt or a duplicate, cancelled check or other verifiable support for this item. If the listing is accurate there will be no problem.

4. Large quantities of individual items. If your out of sight loss contained any unusual amount of one type of item; (i.e. 5,000 CDs) your insurance company will scrutinize these items closely and may look for specific verification of purchases.

Remember: Be as accurate as possible on the quantity, age and cost as you can. If you purchased something for a small amount of money and the replacement amount is large, be sure to identify that item so we can explain the cost. If your policy has replacement cost you are entitled to the new cost even if you purchased the item used or it was a gift.

And finally if you have any questions, which we're sure you will, call us! We're there to help!

Always remember: no item is insignificant!

For Out Of Sight Losses

We have developed various templates which list numerous different types of property that may be in a specific room. These templates are very helpful in recreating the contents of these out of sight room losses. Please discuss this with your Inventory Specialist and she will provide you the templates you need and explain how they are used. (see sample Kitchen Template)

What To Do After You Have Replaced An Item On Your Inventory

As you know, with your assistance, we will complete a detailed inventory of your loss. This will be sent to your insurance carrier with values for the Actual Cash Value (used value) and the Replacement Cost Value (new value). Their payment will typically be based on the Actual Cash Value. To collect the Replacement Cost Value you have to replace the items. The difference between the Replacement Cost and the Actual Cash Value is known as the holdback amount or the FRC (Full Replacement Cost) holdback. You can collect up to the agreed Replacement Cost of the item as listed on the inventory. We will spend considerable time with you and our sources to determine the best Replacement Cost Value. However, if you find that the value on the inventory is significantly higher when you go to replace it please let us know and we will attempt to revise the amounts with the carrier.

To collect the holdback amount you need to prove that you have replaced the item. Most carriers require you to present a paid receipt to collect this amount.We have found that the best way to do this is for you to place the number of the item on the inventory on the receipt. As an example we have included (see attached) a sample inventory with items replaced to assist you. In this example more than one item was replaced with one purchase. The number of the item was placed next to the cost on the invoice. In this example, books were purchased at Borders. In the inventory there were two areas for books; one in the kitchen (Cookbooks item #1448) and the other in the children's bedroom. (Children's books item #145) After the item was identified on the invoice it was given to us and we added it to the original inventory and submitted a claim for the difference between the ACV ($1.94 per book) and the replacement value originally agreed to ($19.40) Note in this example only two books were claimed but 45 lost. The insured is still replacing items and will be making claim for more cookbooks as she replaces them. In the other example attached, a video camera, bag and tripod were all purchased at one time. They correspond to item numbers on the inventory as #100, #104 & #110. The replacement was a Sony video camera, owever, on the inventory the lost camera was Item #100 a Panasonic camera and still gualifies. The replacement does not have to be the exact model, make or style but simply of like kind. (ie. a camera for a camera)

To facilitate presenting this holdback claim to the carrier we suggest that you use an accordion folder with slots in it that we can supply you. Number the slots from 1-100; 101-200; 201-300 etc. Then when you get the receipt, number it and place it in the appropriate slot. Then mark the inventory item off on your copy of the inventory. If there are multiple items included in one inventory number (ie. #132 – 24 men's shirts) mark off the number replaced. You will have more than one receipt with the #132 on it.

Most carriers require you to replace a like kind item for a like kind item. As in the example above the replacement was a Sony video camera for the Panasonic video camera. While it may have cost more; the amount that the carrier would pay would be the agreed cost of a Panasonic video camera. Most carriers would also agree to allow you to purchase a big screen TV for a small screen TV; again limiting your replacement collection amount to the cost of the small screen TV. You can also do the reverse by replacing a big screen TV with a small screen TV, however in this case the most they will pay will be the lesser of the Actual Cash Value or the amount you spend. In this example there would probably be no payment since the Actual Cash Value of the big screen is most likely more than the Replacement Cost of the small screen. Some carriers will not allow you to group two or three TV's together to get to the cost of the big screen. If you plan on doing this we will need to check with your carrier. Also most carriers will not allow you to replace a couch for a TV. As a rule of thumb you can replace items of similar use with those of similar use. If you have any questions in this area, please call us.

Keep in mind that the above represents the position taken by most carriers. Every carrier is different, some being more liberal than others in the application of policy requirements. The above commentary reflects the most restrictive interpretation. Be sure to confer with your Adjusters International adjuster regarding the specific requirements of your insurance carrier.

We suggest that we submit periodic replacement claims, usually every few months or when the amount of the holdback claim is significant. We look forward to working with you to the conclusion of your replacement cost claim. Again if you have any questions please call.

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Personal information

Please complete, detach and return to your inventory specialist

In order to help us help you it is beneficial to know a bit about you and your family. While we price your claim, the more we know about you allows us to better obtain the prices that reflect the values of the items lost. It is also very helpful in the area of depreciation. The insurance company is going to pay you the used value of the item lost until you replace it. You will then collect the "agreed" replacement value. Depreciation is very dependent on how you acquire, use and maintain your personal property. Please take the time to answer this questionnaire to the best of your ability. If a question does not apply, just mark N/A over the number. If you have any questions call your Adjusters International Adjuster or Inventory Specialist.
